Falcons, September is all about empathy, and many of you are already empathetic people. However, there are cases where you are feeling FOR someone and not WITH them. In cases like that, when you are supporting someone in need, then our word of the week is for you: sympathy. Sympathy is a feeling of sincere sorrow or care for someone who is experiencing pain, loss, or hardship. Oftentimes, we feel sympathy for those we can't directly relate to. Sympathy can motivate acts of kindness or helpful actions for someone who needs support. Here it is in a sentence: "Though he had never experienced loss himself, the young man had great sympathy for the family at the funeral. His kind words meant a lot for those who had just experienced a great loss." See Mr. Pilarski for more information about our word of the week.
