Congratulations to this week's Falcons of the Week - Keaton Crawford, Caroline Klein, Royce Listeman, Maelee Tucker.Stop in the office between classes to pick up your shirt, popcorn and slushy pass from Mrs. Rice.

Imagine stepping into a courtroom, looking a witness in the eye, and delivering the closing argument that wins the entire case.Whether you want to be a lawyer, an actor, a politician, or you just like to win arguments, Mock Trial is where you belong. Mock Trial isn't just about reading law books. It is an intense, thrilling team sport. You get to play two distinct roles: • As an attorney, you learn how to think on your feet, object like a pro, and command a room.• As a witness, you get to adopt a persona, bring a story to life, and withstand intense cross-examination. You don't need any experience to join. We will teach you how to analyze a case, build an argument, and speak with absolute confidence. The skills you learn here critical thinking, public speaking, and quick decision-making will help you in every single class you take and any career you choose.Our first meeting is after school on Friday October 9th starting at 2:30 in lab 102.

It is College Month, and that means College Trivia for Candy!!! All students - look for Mrs. Hupcik, Mr. Goulette, Mr. Shinault and Mrs. Atkins in the halls during passing time. They will have trivia questions for you and if you get the answer correct, you get CANDY! Happy College Month!

Attention all students being inducted into the National Honor Society. Please remember that your signed induction papers are due today,Thursday, October 8th at the latest. Be sure to submit your completed forms to Mrs. Rexford's classroom (room 153). Thank you, and congratulations on your achievement!

Students you will be receiving a food service paper in your advisory that needs to be filled out and signed by your parent. When completed, please return to your 3rd hour teacher to receive a pass for a free popcorn!

Everyone...scan the Yearbook Snap QRcode on the doors of the main entrance as you leave and send any pictures that you want to the yearbook. You need to type in our school and the password is falcons.

Seniors - We are taking deposits for the second bus now, let's fill that 2nd bus. See Ms. Thomas or Mr. Miller to pay.

Just a reminder, the first period class with the least amount of tardies and absences this week will receive doughnuts. Get to class on time!

Falcons, There's nothing wrong with counting on others, but sometimes life makes us go it alone - and that's okay. Part of growing up and being independent is learning to take personal responsibility for all aspects of your life. When the time comes to forge your own path, our word of the week will is for you: Self-Reliant. Being self-reliant means you rely on your own resources, judgment, and power to do things, solve problems, and make decisions without needing help from others. It means using your own skills to be self-sufficient. Here it is in a sentence: Our country was built by great men and women pioneers who needed a multitude of skills to survive. These self-reliant pioneers had to grow and harvest their own food, build their own homes, sew their own clothes, and even forge their own tools. They had to use their skills and knowledge to survive the untamed frontier. See the display case near the main office for more information about our word of the week.
